

BANUS CLUB MEMBERS VISIT CIAT REGIONAL OFFICES

BANUS officials present a token to Dr. Caroline Mwangera during their visit to CIAT offices

On Friday 2nd December 2016 a team of Biological Association of Nairobi University students (BANUS) officials visited International Center of Tropical Agriculture regional offices for Africa at ICIPE. The visit aimed at initiating a lasting relationship between the CIAT, BANUS. International Center of Tropical Agriculture is playing a key role in nurturing upcoming scientist. Recently, Dr. Caroline Mwangera, Dr. Solomon Mwendia and Ms. Mercy Mutua on behalf of CIAT have been inspiring the club members through career talks in the School of Biological Sciences. CIAT has donated books to the club which has enabled it to start a library where club members can borrow and expand their knowledge them.

During the CIAT visit, the BANUS officials had a rare opportunity to meet CIAT Regional Director for Africa Dr. Debisi Araba who was very pleased to have students from the University of Nairobi in the Organization. The visit is intended to deepen mutual collaboration between CIAT, BANUS, and to a larger extend the University of Nairobi fraternity as a whole.
