UNIVERSITY EXAMINATIONS: JANUARY TO FEBRUARY 2021

MISREADING OF EXAMINATION TIMETABLES

In the past, a few students have failed to present themselves for given examinations on account of having misread the examination timetables.

As you all know, missing an examination without GOOD cause is a serious offence. Misreading of examination timetables is not taken to be a good cause for missing examinations, and it is therefore not condonable.

It will, therefore, be appreciated if ALL students would ensure that they read the examination timetables carefully so as to make sure that they report for each examination as scheduled.

However, in the event of becoming a victim of the above, the student concerned should report the matter immediately to the Academic Registrar/Chairman of the Department or the Dean/Director of the Faculty/School/Institute/Centre concerned. It should be noted that only those cases reported immediately as outlined above will be investigated and a report made thereon to the Senate as may be appropriate.
